

Privacy policy

This privacy policy discloses the information gathering and distribution practices for the website www.saveinvest.io, and by its owner, CMD Venture Technology S.R.L. and its subsidiaries. We may change the policies at any time and without further notice. It is your responsibility to regularly check in order to keep informed.

By using our services and by submitting any information to us, you are accepting the practices described in this privacy policy. It is vital for us to assent to these practices in order to provide our services. By opting to not provide us with the Data we require, you agree that will not be able to receive our service.

The personal information we collect includes full name, address, e-mail address, telephone number, official document (passport, ID, driving license). We use the Data for the purposes of Anti Money Laundering, Know Your Customer and Marketing.

CMD Venture Technology S.R.L. or its subsidiaries will NOT disclose, rent, sell or likewise communicate or publish any confidential information to any third party. Exception for the benefit of the Company or any of its subsidiaries and affiliated companies.

We are committed to protect Data. As a result, we take measures to prevent loss, misuse, and alteration of your Data. The access to our database is restricted and protected in accordance to the best practices available.

We are using the best encryption practices to ensure your logins are secured. Our website is encrypted using SSL certificate for securing the transfer of data. Users must ensure that they are using the secured version (<https://...>) of the website to avoid phishing attempts.

We cannot ensure that your Data will never be disclosed. For example, we may be forced to disclose your information to government agencies, law enforcement agencies for any reasons like investigation of fraud, intellectual property infringements or any other illegal activities that you may be investigated for.

Due to the nature of our services, this website is not directed to anyone under the age 18. We will NOT knowingly collect Data for persons under the age of 18. Should the jurisdiction where you reside, further limits your accession to our service, it is your responsibility to know such limitations and adhere to them.

Users are the only owner of their Data and can request modification or deletion at any time. Contact us at the address below if you want us to change or delete any information that we have about you. We will respond to your request to access, update, or delete your information. We may ask further information about you in the case that you shall ask us to amend the DATA we hold about you.